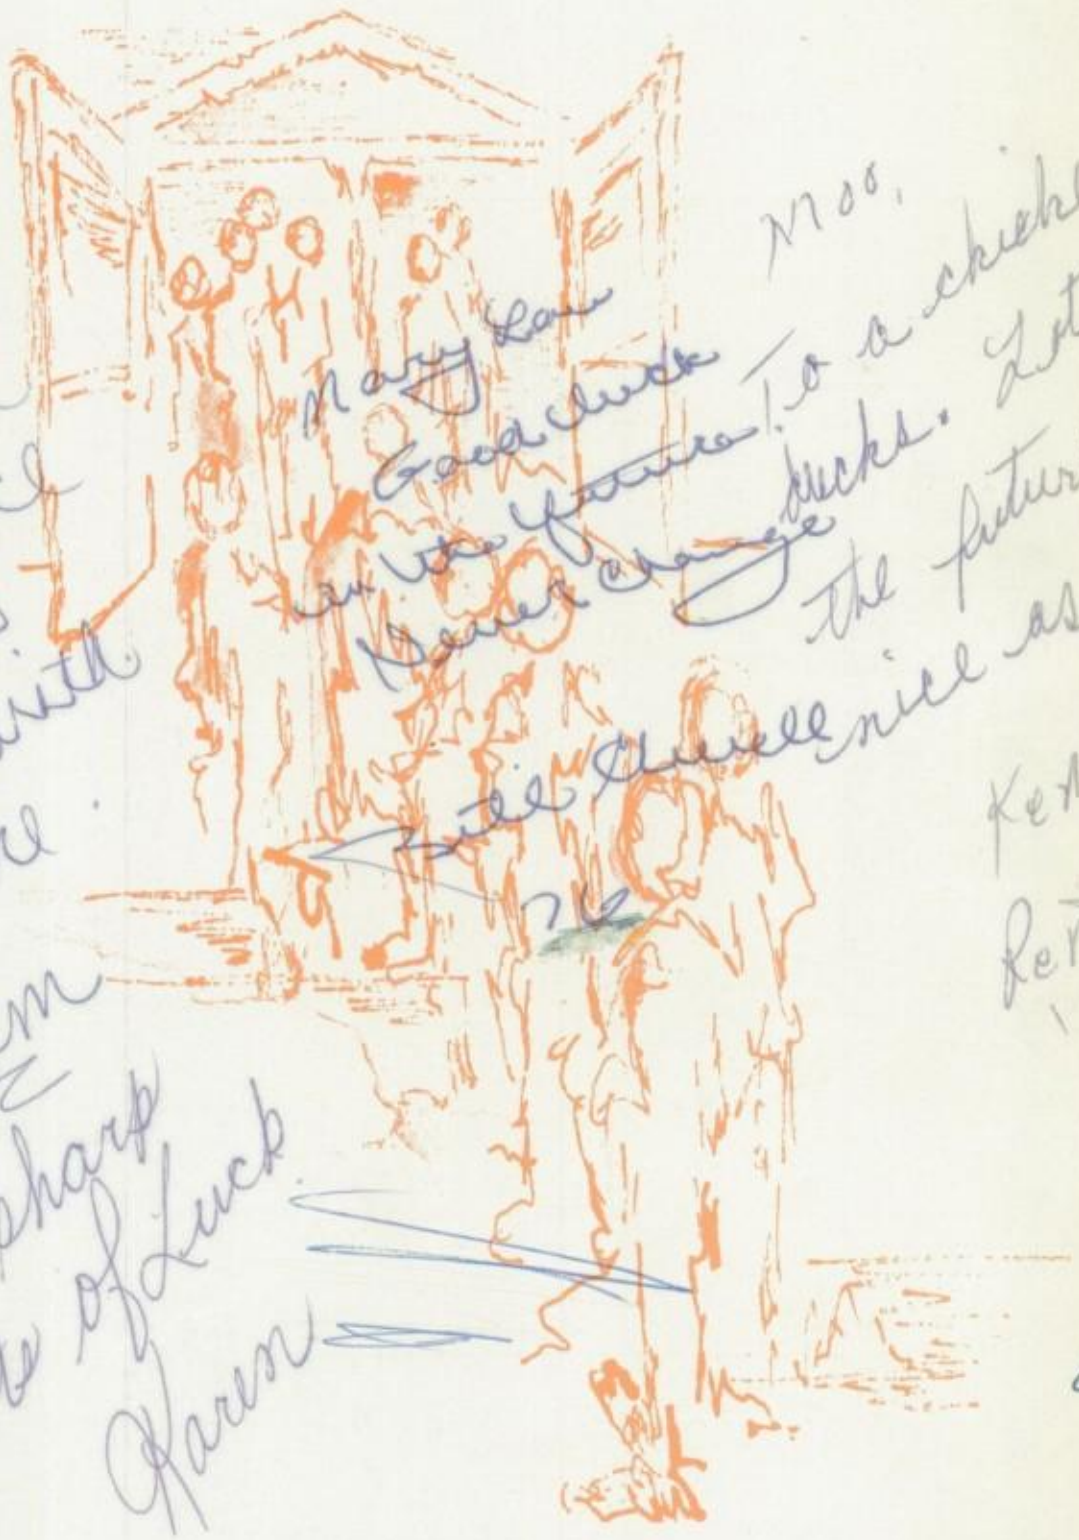
FOREWORD

The pathways through high school are memorable ones. We hope that through this book, we have portrayed a span of these pathways to the future upon which each of us travels.

Education is in itself a wide and heavily traveled pathway. There are many forks in this pathway—each leading to some goal set by those who are traveling upon it.



Just as some roads are unpaved, so are some pathways to success unpaved. There are many rough and threatening sections. However, if the goal is kept in view, all difficulties can be surmounted, and the pathway will have served its purpose of furnishing a means of guidance.

We are proud of our faculty who are the guideposts along our pathway through high school. Without them our trek would be futile.

With all these things in mind, we present to you the 1964 ARLION.

GRADUATES OF 1964:

Youth of today stands upon the threshold of an amazing era. Events are happening so fast that it is impossible to find a label to describe the beckoning horizons. The world is moving so rapidly that yesterday's accomplishments are obsolete today and today's successes are likely to be outmoded tomorrow. The air age had become the space age; the jet age has become the missile age.

Always there is a struggle to unlock closed doors. Man's inquisitive mind is ever seeking the key to the universe. Areas of knowledge are being opened that would make an Archimedes, a Newton, or an Einstein gasp. An American whirls in orbit around the earth; the moon has become an actual target; a Nautilus charts new paths in the watery depths of the world; jet aircraft has reduced the size of the world. The mad race carries man on to new achievements before he has digested the old. Today's youth will witness spectacular developments.

You, the graduates, must keep on learning and preparing for tomorrow. You cannot rest upon the fact that you did learn something yesterday. This world, which so suddenly has narrowed into a neighborhood, presents to you the task of broadening it into a brotherhood.

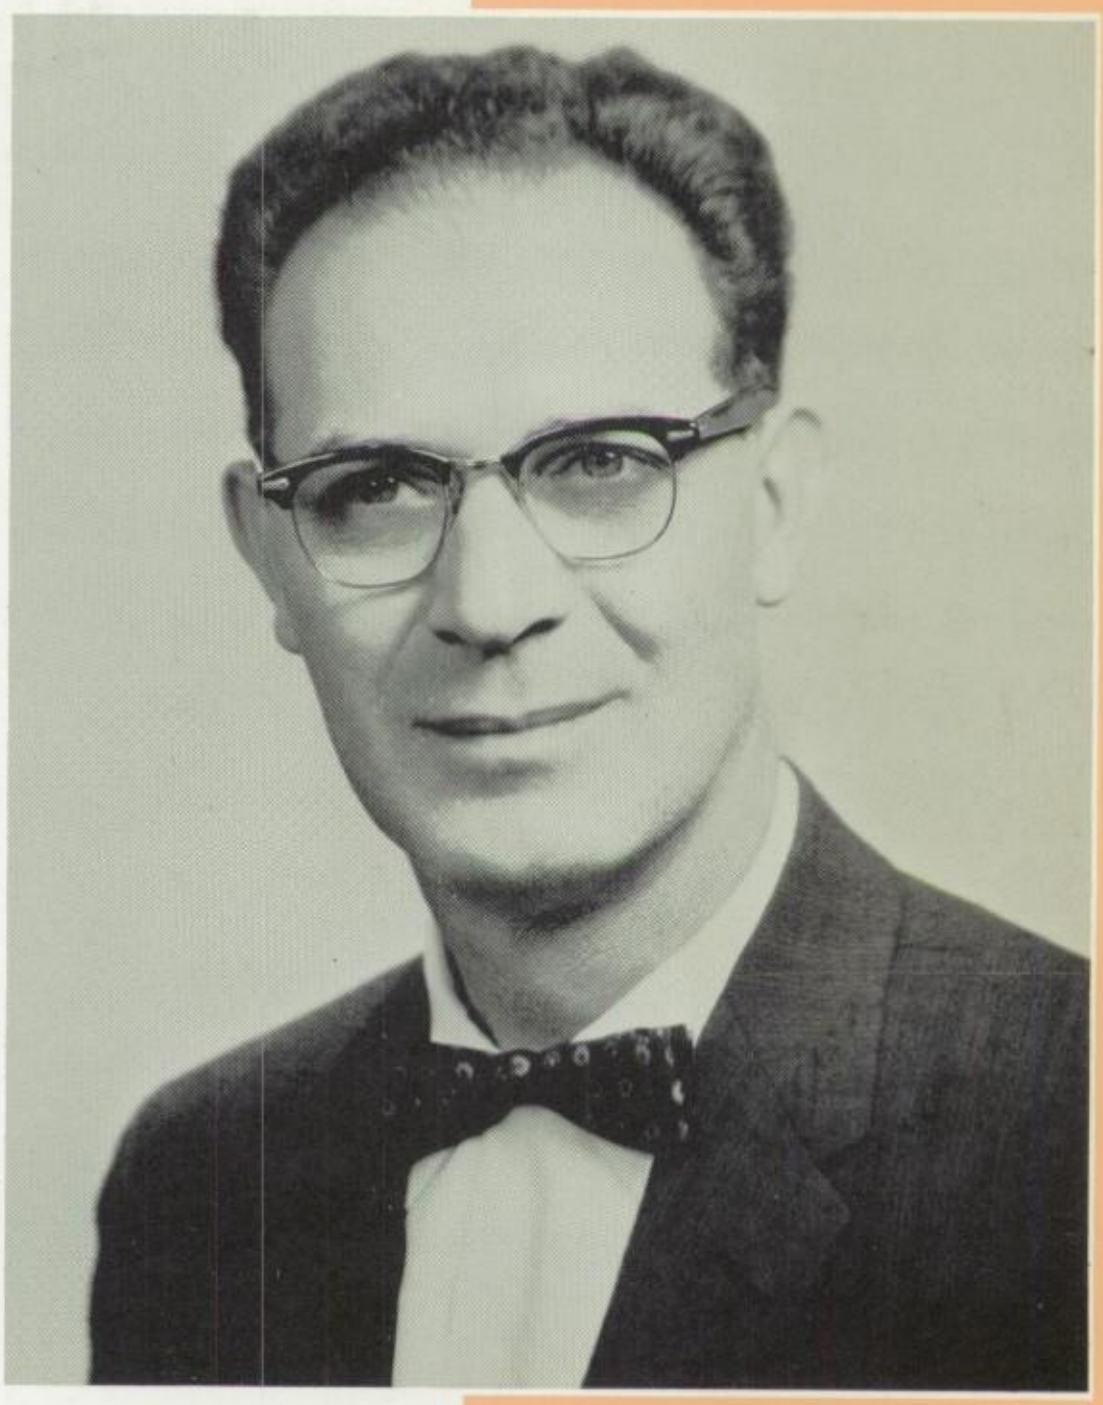
High School is only one hurdle, and having cleared this, no doubt you feel there will be no more, but in that you are mistaken. Life is a succession of hurdles, and anyone who settles back, satisfied with having cleared the hurdles in his path so far, is headed for failure. Each hurdle cleared makes the next one easier, and the ability to accomplish more as time goes on gives the individual more confidence, more ability. Hurdles is a fascinating subject! The more you study it, the more fascinating it becomes. Thinking of life's experience as hurdles to be cleared may simplify some of your problems. Remembering hurdles you have cleared in the past may give you courage, too, to tackle others. Looking back, realizing that you have been able to clear others, you may be fired with ambitions you had not thought possible.

As you go out into the world beyond High School, may you have the ability and the courage to clear whatever hurdles life puts in your way.

Assistant Principal



To the Graduates of 1964:

Learn to work! Try to recognize very soon "the dignity of work." The job that you perform should represent you at your very best.

Be generous with the amount of time you allocate to your tasks rather than watch the clock and fear approaching "dead lines." Learn to start your job in plenty of time — learn to glorify your work and even to put a halo around your job!

The past has proven that doing your present work well will help to open doors to new opportunities.

Make your work reflect your faith, your ideals, and your integrity.

And remember — Nothing happens until you go to work!

VICE-PRESIDENT .... William Clark

SECRETARY ..... Lee Dietrich

TREASURER ..... Anita Molli

1964 Senior Class

Graduation is upon us, the prescribed courses are finished, and we're about to accomplish the task for which we have been trained. Many detours may lie in the road ahead, but using the guidance and instruction which we have accumulated thus far, we are sure to find the "pathway to peace."

The nostalgia with which we look back to our younger days will always be a precious feeling to be treasured, and the acquaintances we have made will never be forgotten.

We are grateful to our teachers, faculty and principal for the fine opportunity they have given us to become intelligent and outstanding citizens.

As the year progresses, the members of the junior class, having experienced more learning and confidence, look eagerly forward to the day when they will proudly become seniors. Besides being intelligent, cooperative students, the juniors have proven to be responsible in their many projects. Their ingenuity was put to work to make the prom an enchanting evening. The day of graduation is not far distant, but that short space of time represents a great deal of endeavor and hard work. Realizing the rewards of their efforts, the Junior class will strive to make their senior year a most prosperous one.

The sophomores are the yearlings of the high school and now for the first time are experiencing their first taste of actual independence. In this capacity, they may at times try too much or become frightened and discouraged, but never will they "give up the ship." Although the sophomore year is one never to be forgotten, they may view the road ahead with anticipation. The sopohmores have a strong spirit to succeed and they will carry on in the spirit in which they began.

1964 Freshman Class

The Freshman year at Arnold is both an ending and a beginning.

It is an end to the irresponsibility and freedom of junior high, to the days of having all of our decisions made for us.

But more important it is a beginning. It is the year when courses are chosen for the formative years of high school, when the first class officers are elected. It is the year when the first money for the still far-off prom is raised. And it is the year when our freshmen begin to form the personalities and character they will possess at graduation.

Arlion

Each year our yearbook has broadened and improved. Each one is a record of all our school memories. They are links between the future and the past — a reminder of the best years of our lives.

From the first plans of the book to the finished product, revisions and new ideas are constantly being used to improve the book. Identifying pictures, composing senior write-ups, choosing colors, and typing dummy sheets only begin the work of the Arlion staff.

This year the Arlion has a new advisor, Mr. Curcio. Along with him, the Arlion staff sincerely hopes that this book will be the best yet.

Student Council

The Arnold Student Council has been the most democratic body in the school. Under the supervision of Mr. McGuire, the Student Council interprets the ideas of students, makes needed improvements, and is the voice of all those who wish to be heard.

The Student Council handles many functions, such as: Christmas Card Sale, dances, elections, hall monitors, inspecting lockers, and scheduling sales for other clubs.

The Council consists of these students most capable of representing their fellow students. This year's Council has done many favorable things to improve our school.

Leaders Club

This marks the third successful year of the G.L.C. with Miss Troiano as advisor.

The club has a closed membership for girls in the ninth through twelfth grades, and each member must maintain a "C" average.

The purpose of this organization is " . . . to stimulate interest and growth in athletic activities, to promote good fellowship, and to foster a spirit of genuine sportsmanship among the girls of this school."

Through her many experiences and tasks, each girl learns leadership and good sportsmanship.

You can readily agree that the G.L.C. has lived up to its standards. We hope that this fine organization will continue to keep the good record it has obtained.

Under the guidance of Miss Fryer and Mrs. Wrobleski, the F.H.A. strives for bettering themselves as future homemakers.

Working in projects tied in with their home economic classes, the girls learned to appreciate the joys and satisfactions of such a career. Their many activities included serving for the prom, selling cookbooks and making gifts for the hospital patients.

Library Club

The Library Club is an organization which devotes much of its time and energy to keeping up our efficient library. Under the supervision of Mr. Galli, our librarian, the girls enjoy doing such duties as typing and filing cards, writing overdue notices, mending books, and preparing new books for circulation. An expression of appreciation should be conveyed to this deserving staff.

FIRST ROW: P. Kelly, K. Lanfaloni, F. Toscano, C. Roberts, C. Silvis, S. Brem, D. Zilinski. SECOND ROW: Mr. Galli, M. Hall, P. Polsinelli, J. Hale, K. Johnson, K. Confer, J. Meyer, L. Corchia, M. Zamperini, L. Dowhower.

Future Nurses Club

The Future Nurses Club of America supplies the necessary experience for girls entering the nursing field. Under the capable instruction of Mrs. Tannas, our school nurse, the girls are prepared for a better understanding of nursing.

All members are required to serve a certain amount of time at the hospital as candy-stripers in order to learn and appreciate the career of nursing.

Key Club

The Arnold Key Club is a service organization sponsored by the New Kensington Kiwanis. Mr. Smith, the advisor of the group, works with the boys to establish unselfish attitudes among its members.

Members may be found cleaning the stadium, holding dances, sponsoring the annual tureen dinner, and performing a number of small but still important tasks in the school and on the campus. They also help in various Kiwanis fund-raising activities.

FIRST ROW: W. Richards, F. Lombardo, J. Ciciarelli, G. Welsh, M. Farinelli, D. Batten. SECOND ROW: S. Vasilopus, E. Ratajczak, J. Mazur, R. Sampson, P. Meredith, R. Andring, J. Morabito, D. Gentile. Football Club

The Football Club gives the boys of the football team and Mr. Martin a chance to meet and discuss informally the team's plays and weaknesses. Each member of the team has a chance to express his opinion throughout the conversations. Movies are shown to find trouble spots on the line as well as in the backfield. Mr. Martin, the sponsor, also points out the strong points and the weaknesses of the opposing team. The Football Club, besides its weekly meeting, has a physical fitness program in which the boys meet throughout the week to lift weights.

Future Teachers of America

The career of teaching involves many rewarding moments, as well as a lot of hard work. It is the purpose of the Future Teachers of America to bring both facets of teaching to the attention of its members.

Advised by Mrs. Ursic and Miss Cribbs, the club carries on many activities. Long-term projects include assisting teachers with paperwork and reading to children at the library during the summer. Members also serve as ushers during open house. An annual candy sale provides funds used for a scholarship to be given to the most deserving senior.

Mathematics Club

The Mathematics Club under the direction of Mr. Gearhard is well represented by its members. The club meets to study and discuss mathematical problems not covered in daily classes.

Members are able to discuss these problems with open minds and bring forth their opinions of the various problems.

The Club's goal is to stimulate clear thinking and better understanding of mathematics.

National Honor Society

Character, service, leadership, and scholarship are the four characteristics which a member of The National Honor Society must possess. Membership does not single out the members from the rest of the students, it merely commends those who excel so they may become leaders.

Character is one's high moral fiber, service is one's dedication to serve mankind, leadership is one's willingness to lead his classmates, and scholarship is one's hard work preparing for his future. The seventeen members of the 1964 class all strive for these characteristics.

The members of this society will leave high school prepared to conquer any difficult situations.

Latin Club

Thirty-six charter members of the newly formed Latin Club of A.H.S. ratified their constitution on Nov. 5, 1963. Under this constitution the members worked on various committees which planned and executed the regularly scheduled biweekly meetings.

Meeting early in the morning, the group endeavored through active participation to enrich its knowledge and understandings of the Latin language. Among other things they sought to demonstrate that Latin is not a dead language but a foundation on which we have built many facets of our modern life.

Auto Shop

The Auto Shop, under the guidance of Mr. Livrone, consists of students taking the vocational auto course.

The members meet once a week to discuss any problems they may have relating to the automotive field.

Their objective is to promote fellowship and unity within the groups and to exchange any ideas they may have concerning their goals.

Machine Shop

The Arnold High School Machine Shop Club is under the supervision and direction of Mr. Gressly, and is open to any student belonging to the vocational machine shop.

The main purpose of the organization is to help these future machinists, gather and study the valuable information confronting our machinists of today. The highlights of this club are the projects and surveys they make during the school term.

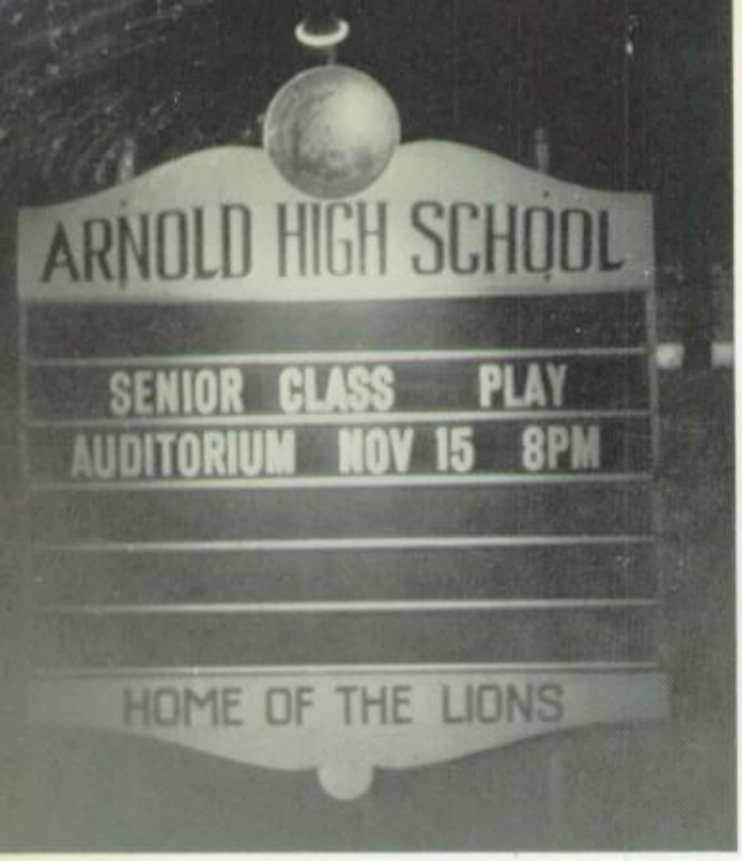
Senior Class Play

"Strange Boarders"

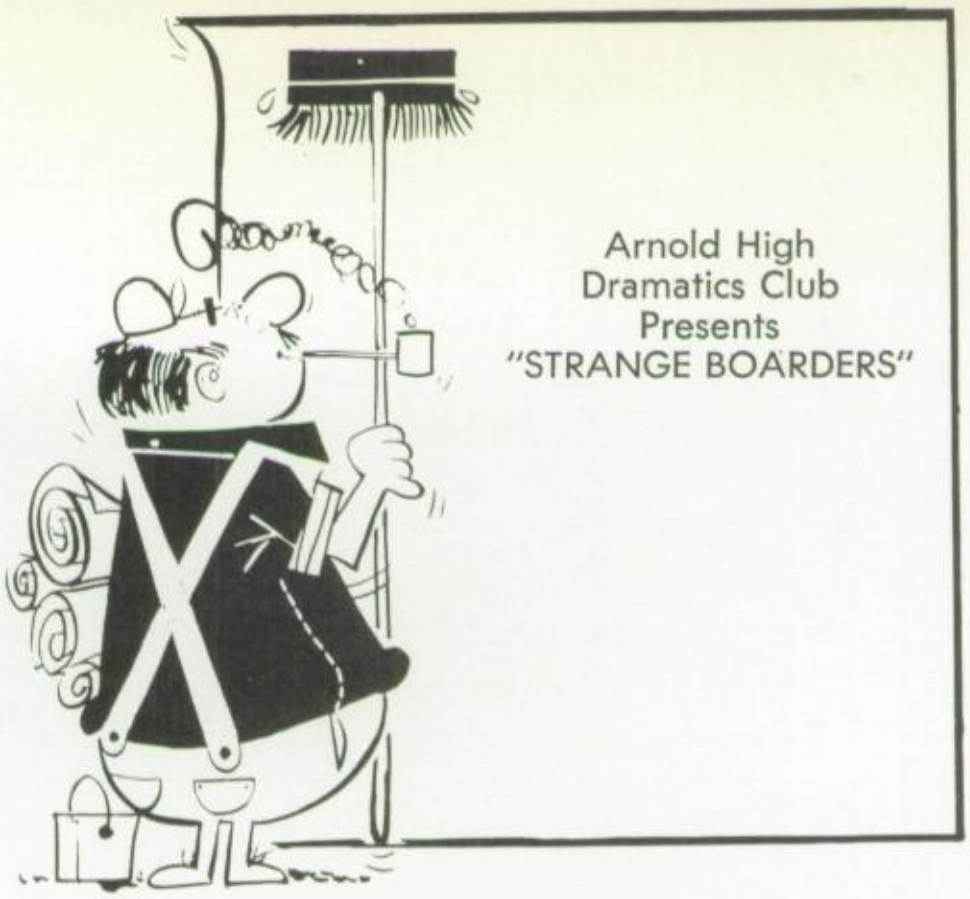
"Is everybody ready? Places! Lights!" That was the director, Mr. Massaro, reciting the words that made the hearts of all the students associated with "Strange Boarders" sound like anti-aircraft guns. One last look at the director and all the actors were ready.

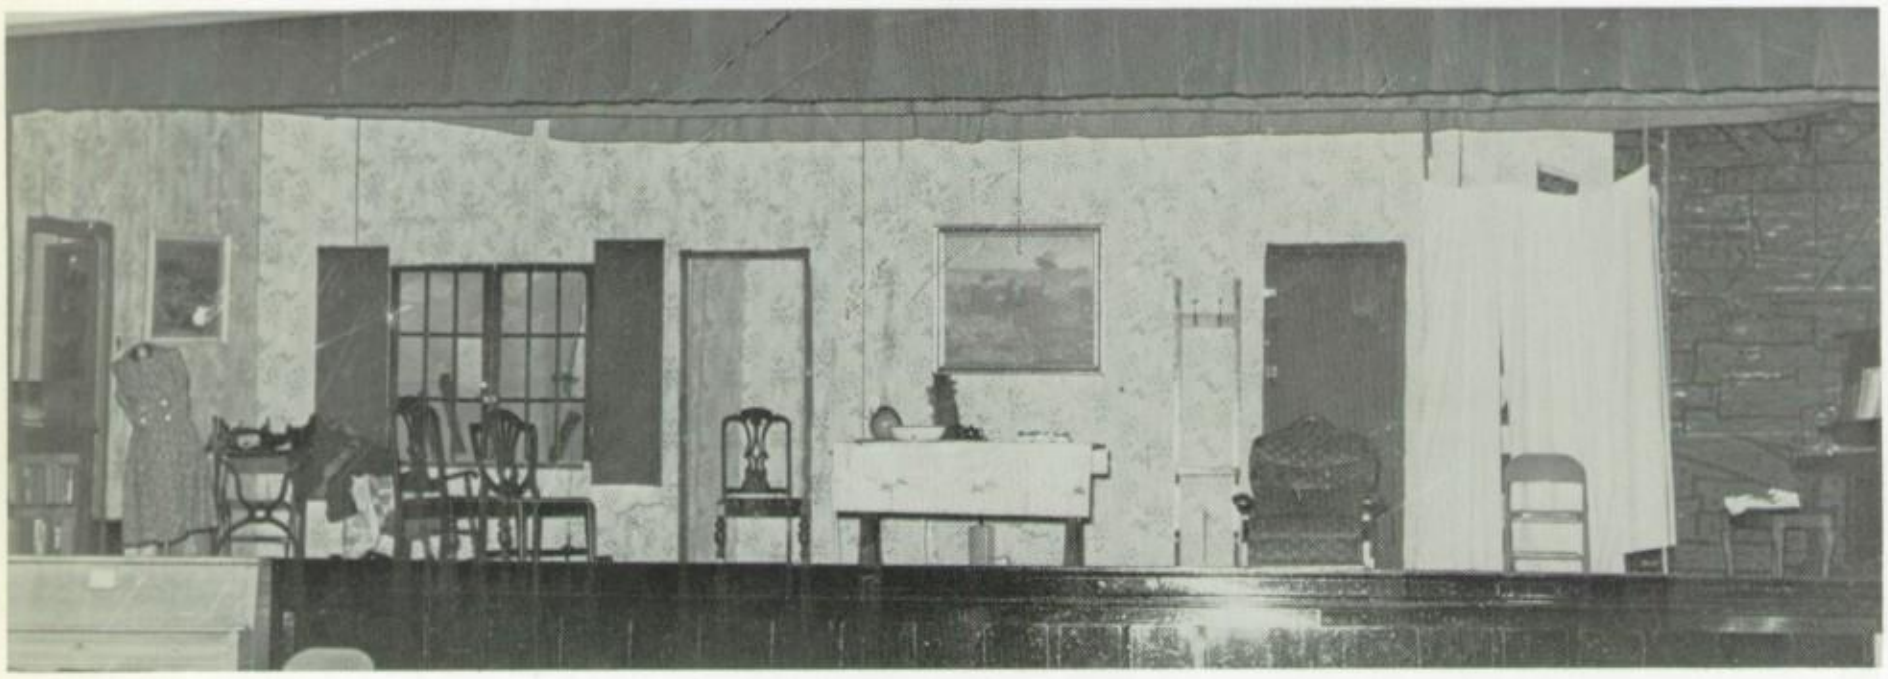
To the audience out front a play may be only an evening's entertainment, but to the cast it means weeks of hard work, drill galore, and many sleepless nights. There was a real live audience out there waiting to be entertained and it was up to the cast to entertain them.

The play, "Strange Boarders," took place in a small New England town in the boarding house owned by Cordelia Tuttle. To the already mixed-up house came two "strange boarders," Amity and Priscilla Haines. The plot develops around them and a gang of bank robbers. How Cordelia and the Captain finally capture the entire gang proved to be very interesting.



Tonight's the night.





Empty now, but not for long.

Lights! Action! Camera!

Our director, Mr. W. Massaro

Prom

There comes a time every spring when the students' hearts turn to thoughts of the Junior-Senior Prom.

Palm trees, igloos, windmills and rocket ships—all these refer to May 24, 1963; when the Juniors and Seniors took a trip around the world.

It was hard to believe that these same boys and girls are the ones you see at school each day. It's a never-to-be-forgotten experience, the Junior-Senior Prom.

Ah, work done at last!

Now, Pam, don't pick those flowers.

". . . Let the word go forth from this time and place, to friend and foe alike, that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans—born in this century, tempered by war, disciplined by a hard and bitter peace, proud of our ancient heritage . . ."

John F. Kennedy, Inaugural Address

January 20, 1961

In Memoriam

John F. Kennedy

1917-1963

The following pages are dedicated to our late President, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, a happy, healthy symbol of the might and invulnerability of his nation. Mr. Kennedy's desire to develop the body as well as the mind has greatly increased the stability of youth. He strove by this means to help the youth of today become the leaders of tomorrow. Even though his sudden death has curtailed his important role in promoting physical fitness, his efforts and attainments shall forever be cherished by all.

Lions in Action

Under the fiery leadership of Coach Frank Martin, the Lions completed a highly successful grid campaign with only one blemish on their record. The heartbreaking loss to Freeport, who went on to capture the A.I.C. crown, gave our gridders a record of nine wins and one loss, and runner-up honors in the Allegheny Interscholastic Conference.

Highlighting the grid season was the victory over Leechburg, 18-6, which knocked the Blue Devils out of the running for the W.P.I.A.L. Class A and A.I.C. titles.

Ironically, the Lions, in capturing runner-up honors, amassed a higher point rating in the conference than the previous year when they clinched the championship.

We extend our congratulations and praise to our excellent coaching staff and rugged athletes.

Coach Martin instructs staunch interior linemen J. Ludwiczak and C. Pagano.

Basketball

The season of 1963-64 found our cagers entered into the tough Section 1 division. The transition from Section 11-A was too difficult for our team to overcome. As a result, Arnold High School fans did not witness a winning season. However, what the team lacked in victories was more than made up in desire, sportsmanship and fair play.

Although the Lions will lose seven senior lettermen through graduation, the future appears very bright. With sophomore star, Dan Barbiaux, returning and a promising junior varsity in the background, Arnold High School will be looking for better things in 1964-65.

Grab that Rebound!
